Unison receives Senior Choice Gold Award for Excellence in Pittsburgh market

PITTSBURGH, Pa. (Nov. 2, 2007) -- Unison Health Plan of Pennsylvania's Advantage Choice is the only Medicare Advantage plan in the Pittsburgh area to receive the 2008 Senior Choice Gold Award (SCGA).

HealthMetrix Research Inc. announced Thursday that Unison is among 35 Medicare plans nationally recognized for cost-sharing effectiveness and value in the design of its 2008 medical and Part D prescription drug benefits for Medicare beneficiaries. HealthMetrix recognized Unison's Medicare Advantage Choice plan for "Excellence in Medicare Benefits Value."

Unison's Advantage Preferred plan also earned SCGA recognition for the Allentown-Lehigh Valley and Harrisburg markets in Pennsylvania. Unison's Advantage Choice plan received the SCGA in the Memphis, Tennessee, market.

This is the second consecutive year that Unison's Medicare plans gained SCGA awards in the Allentown-Lehigh Valley and Memphis markets.

HealthMetrix Research Inc. is a national independent managed care research firm based in Columbus, Ohio. Award recipients were selected from more than 200 Medicare managed care plans. The distinction is based on cost-sharing comparisons conducted by HealthMetrix. These comparisons identify Medicare plans with the lowest and highest estimated annual out-of-pocket costs based on approved 2008 member copayments, deductibles and premiums that appear in the Medicare Options Compare database at www.medicare.gov.

The Senior Choice Gold Award is based on independent comparisons of the approved 2008 Medicare Advantage-Part D plan benefits. For details, visit www.MedicareNewsWatch.com.
